

Lap Band and Pregnancy

Lap Band and Pregnancy

For women who are looking to lose weight, especially after having had a child or children, Lap Band surgery may be the answer.

It is only natural that women put on excess pounds during pregnancy, and sometimes removing that weight following the birth of a child can be quite the challenge.

There are also questions from women who may opt for Lap Band surgery prior to a pregnancy and what impact the procedure will have on their ability to conceive.